The authors thank Christopher C. Smith, PhD, for his comments on earlier drafts of this manuscript. The authors also thank the research team members at the Texas A&M University for their assistance in conducting many surveys in 1998 and 2000. The authors would also like to thank the following individuals for their assistance in the survey: Clifford Johnson (University of Texas), and the following individuals:

A schematic diagram of a 2D Cartesian coordinate system. The horizontal axis is labeled 'x' and the vertical axis is labeled 'y'. The origin is marked with a small circle and labeled 'O'. A point 'P' is located in the first quadrant. A line segment connects the origin 'O' to the point 'P'. The distance from 'O' to 'P' is labeled 'r'. The angle between the positive x-axis and the line segment 'OP' is labeled 'theta'.

Hunger the most urgent problem

Figure 1 displays a sequence of 100 grayscale images arranged in a 10x10 grid, illustrating the evolution of a pattern over time. The images show a progression from a noisy, random state to a more structured, elongated shape that grows and fills the frame.

People power against corruption

Figure 1 is a 3D bar chart illustrating the distribution of the number of species (n) for different numbers of genera (N) and the number of species per genus (k). The x-axis represents the number of genera (N) with values from 1 to 10. The y-axis represents the number of species per genus (k) with values from 1 to 10. The z-axis represents the number of species (n) with values from 1 to 10. The bars show that for a given N and k , the number of species n is highest when $k=1$ and decreases as k increases. The distribution is also skewed towards lower values of N and k .

MMDA warns transpo operators: Follow color scheme

By Ben C. Rios

MANILA (AP) — The Metro Manila Development Authority (MMDA) has issued a warning to transport operators to follow the color-coded traffic management system. The MMDA said it will take action against operators who do not comply with the system, which is designed to manage traffic flow during peak hours. The system uses different colors to indicate the level of traffic congestion: green for normal, yellow for moderate, and red for heavy. Operators are required to adjust their routes and schedules accordingly. The MMDA emphasized that compliance is essential for maintaining the efficiency of the transportation system and reducing travel time for commuters.

What is causing delay in Venezuelan arrangements?

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine government is seeking to clarify the reasons for the delay in finalizing arrangements for the return of the remains of a Filipino soldier who was killed in Venezuela. The government has expressed its commitment to resolving the matter as quickly as possible. It has been in contact with the Venezuelan authorities to discuss the details of the repatriation process. The delay has caused concern among the family of the deceased soldier and other officials involved in the case. The government is working to identify the specific obstacles that are preventing a timely resolution and is committed to addressing them.

On Tumor

MANILA (AP) — A man who has been diagnosed with a tumor is seeking medical advice and support. The man, who is in his late 40s, was first alerted to the presence of the tumor during a routine health check-up. He is currently undergoing further tests to determine the exact nature and extent of the tumor. He has expressed a desire to learn more about the condition and the available treatment options. His family and friends are providing him with emotional support during this challenging time. The man is hopeful that with the right medical intervention, he will be able to manage the condition effectively.

Metropolitan

Under the MMDA's new traffic management system, the following areas are designated as high-priority zones during peak hours:

The MMDA has identified several key areas in the metropolitan region that experience heavy traffic congestion. These areas include the central business district, major commercial hubs, and residential zones with high population density. The new system aims to optimize traffic flow through these areas by implementing targeted measures such as lane management, signal timing adjustments, and public transport incentives. The MMDA is committed to continuously monitoring traffic conditions and making necessary adjustments to the system to ensure its effectiveness.

The MMDA is also implementing a series of public information campaigns to educate commuters about the new traffic management system. These campaigns include the distribution of brochures, the use of social media, and the display of information boards at major transit stations. The goal is to ensure that all commuters are aware of the system and understand how to use it to their advantage. The MMDA believes that with the cooperation of the public, the new system will significantly improve the overall traffic situation in the metropolitan area.

ADB: Remittances to grow despite global strife

By Philanthropy News Demand for Filipino workers abroad seen to be sustained

MANILA, Philippines — The Asian Development Bank (ADB) predicts that remittances from overseas Filipino workers (OFWs) will continue to grow despite the global economic downturn. The bank's latest report states that the demand for Filipino workers abroad is expected to be sustained, as many countries are still recovering from the effects of the global financial crisis.

The ADB report highlights that the Philippines remains a top destination for OFWs, with a significant number of workers employed in sectors such as construction, manufacturing, and services. The bank notes that the Philippines' strong labor force and competitive wages are key factors driving the demand for its workers.

However, the report also points out that the global economic challenges could lead to a slowdown in remittance growth in the near future. The ADB advises the Philippines to continue to support its OFW sector and to diversify its economy to reduce its reliance on remittances.

PSE sees P4.9B in net foreign selling XAS now taking baby steps to make funds last forever

By Business Journal

MANILA, Philippines — The Philippine Stock Exchange (PSE) reported a net foreign selling of P4.9 billion in the first two months of the year. The selling was primarily driven by a decline in foreign investment in the local market.

Meanwhile, the XAS (Xavier's Asset Management) is now taking baby steps to make its funds last forever. The fund manager, Mr. XAS, has implemented a series of measures to ensure the long-term sustainability of the fund, including diversification and risk management.

The PSE also noted that the local market remains volatile, with several key sectors showing signs of recovery. However, the overall sentiment remains cautious due to the global economic challenges.

Volume of local trade slowed in Q1

By Economic Journal

MANILA, Philippines — The volume of local trade slowed in the first quarter (Q1) of the year, according to a report from the Bureau of Economic Analysis. The report shows that the total value of local trade decreased by a significant margin compared to the same period in the previous year.

The slowdown was attributed to a combination of factors, including a decline in consumer spending and a reduction in business-to-business trade. The report also noted that the global economic downturn had a negative impact on local trade.

Despite the slowdown, the report highlights that certain sectors, such as manufacturing and services, still showed signs of growth. The Bureau of Economic Analysis expects a gradual recovery in local trade volume in the coming quarters.

Bank lending rises, so does cash in circulation

By Economic Journal

MANILA, Philippines — Bank lending has risen significantly in the first two months of the year, leading to an increase in cash in circulation. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) reported that the total amount of loans granted by banks has increased by a substantial margin.

The increase in lending is primarily driven by a rise in consumer credit, particularly in the form of personal loans and credit cards. This growth in lending has led to an increase in the amount of cash in circulation, as borrowers receive cash from the banks.

The BSP noted that the increase in lending and cash in circulation is a positive sign for the local economy, indicating that businesses and consumers are becoming more active. However, the central bank also expressed concerns about the potential for inflation and the need to maintain a stable monetary policy.

'Hi-tech' homes to revolutionize property scene

By [Name] and [Name]

NEW YORK — The real estate industry is on the cusp of a technological revolution, with new tools and techniques that will change the way properties are marketed and sold. From virtual tours to data-driven marketing, the industry is embracing a new era of "hi-tech" homes.

One of the most significant developments is the use of virtual reality (VR) and 3D modeling. These technologies allow potential buyers to take virtual tours of properties, providing a more immersive and detailed view of the space. This is particularly useful for properties that are difficult to visit in person, such as those in remote locations or those that are under construction.

Another key trend is the use of data analytics to inform marketing strategies. By analyzing market trends and buyer behavior, real estate professionals can tailor their marketing efforts to reach the right audience at the right time. This includes using targeted email campaigns, social media advertising, and personalized website content.

Finally, the rise of mobile devices has changed the way people search for and view properties. Many real estate websites now offer mobile-optimized versions, making it easier for users to browse listings on their smartphones or tablets. This has led to a significant increase in mobile traffic to real estate websites, highlighting the importance of a strong mobile presence.

By embracing these new tools and techniques, real estate professionals can stay ahead of the curve and provide their clients with the best possible service. The future of real estate is bright, and it is being built one technological innovation at a time.

What you need to know when viewing a model unit

When viewing a model unit, it's important to take a close look at the details, as they can reveal a lot about the quality of the construction and the overall value of the property. Here are some key things to look for:

- Finishes and Materials: Pay attention to the quality of the flooring, walls, and ceiling. Look for signs of wear, such as scratches, stains, or peeling paint. High-quality finishes and materials are a sign of a well-built property.
- Appliances and Fixtures: Check the condition of the kitchen appliances, bathroom fixtures, and other built-in features. Make sure they are all in good working order and match the overall aesthetic of the unit.
- Storage and Organization: Look for built-in storage solutions, such as closets, shelves, and drawers. These can be a valuable addition to any living space, providing extra room for your belongings.
- View and Location: Take a moment to step outside and look at the view from the unit. Consider the location of the property, including its proximity to public transportation, shopping, and other amenities.
- Lighting and Ventilation: Check the lighting fixtures and make sure they are all working properly. Also, look for windows with good ventilation, as this can help to keep the unit fresh and airy.

By taking the time to carefully inspect a model unit, you can get a better sense of what to expect from the property and make a more informed decision about whether it's the right fit for you.

Figure 1 illustrates the experimental setup. A participant is seated at a table, looking at a video screen. The screen shows a target (a small circle) and a starting point (a larger circle). The participant's hand is positioned at the starting point. The video screen is connected to a computer system. The computer system is labeled 'Computer' and 'Video screen'. The participant is labeled 'Participant'.

Figure 1 is a schematic representation of the experimental design. It shows a sequence of events: a subject is presented with a stimulus (a box with a question mark), then a response is given (a box with a checkmark), followed by a feedback phase (a box with a question mark and a checkmark). The feedback phase is divided into two parts: 'Feedback' and 'No feedback'. The 'Feedback' part shows a box with a question mark and a checkmark, while the 'No feedback' part shows a box with a question mark and a cross. The 'No feedback' part is further divided into 'No feedback' and 'Feedback'.
